LOSS HALF A MILLION DOLLARS

Seven Large Prizeries and Eight Dwellings Consumed—Cause of the Fire is Unknown.

The fire originated at eleven twenty this this morning in H. J. Bass' double prizery on Morgan street. The cause of the fire is unknown. Seven large prizeries and eight dwellings have been burned.

The loss will amount in the aggregate to about half a million dollars. The amount of insurance is not yet known.

Of the prizeries two owned by G. W. Watts were occupied by the American Tobacco company as was also that of W. F. Carrington by the American Tobacco Company. Two owned by B. L. Duke were occupied by Bass & Co; one owned by W. Duke was occupied by the American Tobacco Company and one owned by Newton and Tate was occupied by the Bull Durham Tobacco Company. A large amount of leaf is burned and the fire is not yet under control.

BREAK FOR LIBERTY.

Four Convicts Escaped from the County Roads.

Day before yesterday while the county road force were working out near the Battle Ground, John Jennings, who was granted the liberty of a "trusty" and who had two months yet to serve, was given fifty cents and told to go off a little ways and buy some chickens John got off and that fifty cents was mighty tempting, so he did not return.

Yesterday morning, one of the guards was off his guard, when a desperate fellow named Brown made a pass and grappled with him getting hold of his gun. In the scuffle which ensued the gun was broke, the cartridges fell out, and before the guard could reload Brown made his escape, and along with him two others, Will Patton, who had about two and a half years yet to serve, and Walter Morelock, who was serving a five year sentence.

The superintendent of the road force, Mr. B. Bergeman, says he will pay five dollars apiece for the arrest and return of these birds.

Jury Could Not Agree.

Glenville, W. Va., Oct. 13. — The case of Mrs. Governor Atkinson, on trial for forgery of her former husband's name, went to the jury at 11 o'clock last night. There has been a continuous session of court since 9 o'clock in the morning, excepting an hour's intermission for meals.

At 9:30 today the jury reported that they had failed to agree and were dismissed. Seven were for acquittal and five for conviction. The court immediately adjourned. There is a hint that the prosecuting attorney will ask for a nolle prosequi at the next term of court.

A Little Work Needed.

At the the intersection of South Spring street and Walker avenue, where the C. F. and Y. V. track crosses, what is now a dangerous place could be rendered perfectly safe by the use of a small amount of terra cotta pipe and dirt. There are some open ditches there which should be filled. It might be a little cheaper, too, than it would be to settle with the beneficiaries of some fellow with a broken neck.

Football Yesterday.

Howard defeated Amherst easily in an uninteresting game by a score of 38 to 0.

The University of Pennsylvania won from the University of Virginia by a score of 42 to 0. The Virginians at no time came near to scoring.

William Daniel Dead.

Baltimore, Oct. 14.— William Daniel, one of the leaders of the prohibition party in the United States and its candidate for the vice-presidency in 1884, died suddenly yesterday at his home in Mount Washington, a suburb of Baltimore.

THRILLING HIPPODROME.

Exciting Contests of Speed Upon a Quarter-Mile Race Course.

Nothing so sets the blood tingling through men's veins as a contest of speed. It does not matter whether the contestants be men or animals. One will naturally take sides with some one of them, and his "side" is his own just as much as though he was himself one of those engaged in the struggle for supremacy. So it is that the hippodrome forms one of the most thrilling, generally exciting and principal features of the modern big tented amusement. Consequently, the managers have paid special attention to this important department. They have imported more than a score of the finest blooded racing stock ever brought to America, including many full blooded Arabian steeds, noted for their fleetness of foot. The enormous canvas is absolutely water proof, and is the largest ever constructed, making it possible to have a race course fully a quarter of a mile in length, or four laps to the mile. Around this splendid course the men and horses dash along at the very feet of the spectators, and its great length enables them to attain and maintain the highest possible rate of speed. There are races of all kinds, ancient and modern, between horses, men, animals, and when they are not terrific they are very funny, ludicrously funny, exciting rounds of applause and continued laughter.

One special feature that we desire to call attention to, and one that is presented by no other tented amusement enterprise, is a race between an elephant, ridden by the only riding lion, "Wallacker," and a man on foot. It is not only a decided novelty, but the most exciting of all hippodrome races, whether ancient or modern.

The magnificent street parade is a solid mile of glittering golden tableau wagons, chariots, mounted knights and ladies, and numerous novelties never before seen in this country.

There are ten kinds of music, steam calliopes, Scotish bag pipers, a herd of elephants, camels and led animals. Vedock makes two backward dives daily from the top of a web-like structure that is 100 feet high, and is free to all. Taken all in all, these shows are the grandest and best the world has ever known, and their visit to Greensboro on next Saturday, October 16th, will be the most memorable event ever known in the history of Guilford county.

BRIBED SAYS GOV. ATKINSON.

The Prosecution Actuated Solely By Malice.

UNCORKS HIS PENT UP IRE.

And Declares That a Family Quarrel Was the Cause of the Trouble. His Wife Innocent.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Glenville, W. Va., Oct. 14.—Governor Atkinson today made a long statement about his wife's trial in the course of which he took occasion to score the prosecution sharply, declaring that it was actuated purely by malice.

He further declared that the evidence on which the case hinged was given by witnesses who were induced to testify for a consideration. Offers of money, he said, were made to others if they would testify against Mrs. Atkinson.

The Governor ascribes the whole prosecution to spite engendered by a family quarrel and reiterates his belief that his wife is innocent of the crime.

North Carolina Cotton Mills.

Official reports to the labor commission show that the capital of North Carolina mills which spin and weave cotton is $17,242,950. The reports show that one third of the mills are operated night and day. Thirteen woolen mills which spin and weave report, and also 23 wool and carding mills, some of which also spin. Twenty five cotton hosiery mills make reports. The labor commission said this evening: "You can now say that North Carolina mills will this year spin all the cotton we make. The reports show this. They now run both day and night work, while the old figures were only for day work."—Raleigh Press-Visitor.

Change of Time for the Reception.

The time for the reception to be tendered the students of the Normal college by the young people of the Baptist church in the K. of P. building has been changed from Saturday to Friday (tomorrow) night at 8 o'clock. This change is made possible by the very great kindness of Guilford Lodge No. 69. K. of P., in giving up its regular meeting night for this purpose.

CONFERRING ON CUBA.

Consul General Lee Again at the State Department.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Consul General Lee called at the State Department again today for further conference with the officials in regard to Cuban affairs. He told a reporter this afternoon that it had not yet been definitely decided when he should return to Havana, but that the probability was that he would be there very soon after the arrival of Gen. Blanco, the new captain general of Cuba.

He declined to discuss the Cisneros case further than to express the belief that the Spanish government would make no effort to recapture her unless she should return to her native country.

Seen by a Spanish Spy.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Oct. 14—Orders have been issued by the war department to send battery C of the first artillery, to garrison the new coast defence works on Sullivan's Island in the Charleston harbor.

These fortications, which were only recently completed, were visited by a Spanish spy, who is thought to be Lieutenant Sobral, of the Spanish legation here.

New York, Oct. 14—Charles W. Dayton today formally decided to accept the nomination for comptroller on the Jeffersonian democratic ticket, headed by Henry George.

Dayton has had the matter under serious consideration for some days and his decision will create no surprise.

HE SLEPT WITH HIS MONEY.

Got Up and Forgot to Take Up His Wallet.

When it comes to dective work Manager Perkins, of the McAdoo, is entitled to consideration. A guest who spent last night at the McAdoo put his money, about sixty dollars, under his pillow, as usual, before going to bed.

This morning he arose, dressed and left the room and left the money behind. When he went to pay his bill he missed his pocket book. He suspected the chambermaid at once and so informed Mr. Perkins. The girl stoulty denied the theft and maintained her innocence until she was quietly but firmly told that her little game of bluff would not work.

The gentleman who lost the money went in search of a policeman, but in about three minutes Mr. Perkins handed him over the sixty dollars, and the girl was promptly discharged.

The whole transaction did not consume over ten or fifteen minutes. The gentleman went away on the northbound train rejoicing, with words of praise for manager Perkins and his prompt action in the matter.

THE BRETHREN STILL AT IT.

Grant Pays his Respects Quite Warmly to Marshall Mott.

Hiram L. Grant has given the Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer the following interview:

"In your interview with me I must have said something that hit Mr. Mott in a tender place. I am very thankful that I do not possess a vocabulary of profanity or billingsgate to answer the recent attacks upon me in kind. Mr. Mott did say to me on the train from Washington that which he published and a great deal more. I only said in my interview what he since admits, viz: "That Republicans have repeatedly written charging him with this and even that man in there has accused me." Then why so much bluster because I said it? Col. Mott's reputed relations with the Southern as attorney, and the suspicion, to use no stronger term, was very general that he was running with the hare as well. This caused some Republicans to think him a "Bi-lingual." Instead of abuse he ought to thank me for an opportunity of publicly defining his position. As to the alien racket, he played that once with such poor success I am surprised he should have made the second attempt. My appetite for pie is fairly good, but tell Marsh not to make any comparisons which will disclose our relative success in getting at the distribution of it."

Splendid Location.

The Sandy Creek Baptist Association has decided to locate its association school at Mt. Vernon Springs, in Chatham county.

The writer has long looked upon Mt. Vernon Springs as the most admirably adapted school site in that section of North Carolina. The school site is situated in a splendid natural oak grove on a gently sloping eminence, at the foot of which is the celebrated mineral spring from which the place derives its name.

It is just one mile from Ore Hill, thus easily accessible, yet away from the detracting scenes of railroad and town life. Beautiful, healthful, quiet, it is an ideal spot for such a school, and the association was happy in its selection.

MORBID AND MYSTERIOUS CRIMES

Before the Luetgert and Guldensuppe cases are disposed of another murder that promises to be even more mysterious than either of them has startled the country.

Two defenseless women were shot down in their own home, at Camden, New Jersey, and there is no apparent clue to the murderer nor motive for the crime. The police, after a thorough investigation, have discarded the idea of burglars. They admit themselves baffled. "The Murderers in the Rue Morgue" are paralleled in real life. Color is given to Nordau's theory of degeneration.

It is doubtful if any past period has so abounded in crimes of an odd and unaccountable nature; crimes apparently committed for crime's sake purely, since no advantage could result to the criminal. London reports another Jack the Ripper, Holland a man who confesses to having murdered fourteen wives, Athens, Georgia, a man who walked the streets merely to strike defenceless women. The list might be lengthened almost indefinitely.

There is much food for thought in all these cases for the criminologist, the police specialist and the psychologist. There is something so morbid and bizarre about it all. It is not that crime is on the increase; there is a lower average of crime perhaps than in any age of the world's history. It is the prevalence of crimes that cannot be measured by the usual standards; a change in the nature of crime itself.

There have been a good many predictions that with the reduction of criminal catching to a science and the facilitation of detection and capture by the instant communication of today it would be impossible for a criminal to escape. The facts have not borne out the prophecies. Crimes are still committed in broad daylight and in the heart of crowded cities and the criminal is never caught.

The morbidness of crime may be accounted for by the fact that as man becomes more highly civilized and life grows more complex he also becomes more morbid. The most wholesome and natural man is found in the fields, not in the cities. But how shall the mystery surrounding crime be accounted for? Apparently the reason for its existence can no more be given than the mystery itself can be solved.

MENTION has several times been made in our columns of the need of telephonic communication between Greensboro and High Point. The towns are near together and the cost of the line would consequently be small. There is a community of interest and a volume of business between the places that should make the line a paying investment. We have lines to other towns that are much less intimately connected with us than High Point; it is difficult to see why a line to that place has not been constructed before this. Yet no attempt has been made to secure what would be quickly recognized as a great convenience if not as an absolute necessity. Let some progressive citizen push the matter.

PENNSYLVANIA has a candidate named Swallow for state treasurer. The Keystone voter is inclined with some reason to view that gentleman's aspirations askance.

Prize fighting has claimed another victim. It is a little difficult to see what difference there is between prize fighting and duelling, or why a man who kills in a prize fight should not be as guilty before the law as the duellist who kills his opponent. It is true that the duellist has malice and uses a deadly weapon, but often the prize fighter, as in the case of Corbett and Fitzsimmons, has malice and the human fist is evidently a deadly weapon when fixed to the end of an arm trained to strike a blow like the kick of a mule. The prize fighters' aim is to disable; most often the aim of the duellist would be the same. There are laws against both and the man who kills should be punished as severely in the one case as in the other. Duelling is more dangerous, but as a practice it is preferable to prize fighting. It appeals to men of courage and prize fighting to men of brutality. Griffin should be swung up or sent up for the limit.

IT is not at all improbable that with the "group of politicians" who were discussing Judge Dick's resignation from the federal bench, the wish was father to the thought. The Judge rightly says that the precedent of able men and the approval of those who know his record best combine to strengthen him in his purpose to remain on the bench. He has abundantly earned a rest but if he prefers to serve longer the district is additionally his debtor. Col. Boyd would make a good judge but a better Attorney-General. So may it happen.

THERE is considerable complaint from citizens on Davis and Forbis streets that a visit from the sanitary policeman is very badly needed. We have been asked to call attention to the fact and do so accordingly, feeling sure that the wishes of citizens will receive prompt consideration at the hands of the proper authorities.

THE country would like to know, so soon as the New York Journal recovers its breath, what it proposes to do with Miss Cisneros now that it has her.

MR. DAYTON, of New York, is on the fence. And there are others. In fact the political fence in that part of the vineyard looks like a chicken perch at roosting time.

THE folding bed serves notice to the oil can and the gun that is not loaded that it is not a competitor to be ignored.

THE late jubilee in England seems have given some four hundred thousand workingmen indigestion also.

SURE HE HAS FOUND A CURE.

Dr. Sanarelli Will Try His Serum on a Yellow Fever Patient.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Oct. 13.—A telegram from Montevideo, Uruguay states that Dr. Sanarelli, who a few months ago announced his discovery of the yellow fever germ, and who announced a few days ago the discovery of a curative serum, encountered great difficulties before he perfected the serum. He made experiments on many animals, including horses and oxen, which had been inoculated with fever virus. After hard work he finally succeeded in producing a serum which he found would immunize inoculated animals.

After a conference with leading members of the Medical Society of Uruguay, Dr. Sanarelli will go to Rio Janeiro, where he will test his serum on a fever patient. He expressed himself as absolutely confident of the curative powers of the fluid.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A Home Remedy

ENDORSED BY

Home People.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 5, 1895.

MRS. JOE PERSON,

Madam:—last year I was afflicted with some skin trouble affecting my feet, pronounced by my physician to be erythema. I was confined to my room for some two months and was lame for six months or more. After trying many remedies without effecting a cure, I resorted to your Remedy. After taking three bottles I began to improve, and before I had finished the fifth or sixth bottle I was practically free of the trouble. Once since then there recurred symptoms of its return, when I again resorted to your Remedy, and again the trouble disappeared. I believe I am indebted to you for relief from a very serious affliction.

Yours truly,
HAMILTON C. JONES.

Murphy Bound Over.

The trial of W. L. Murphy for burning Jake Jones' store, which was in progress when we went to press yesterday, was ended about six o'clock. His Honor the Mayor was of the opinion that there was evidence sufficient to bind him and the bond was fixed at $300.

The evidence throughout the trial was purely circumstantial, but it looks very much like Murphy is in position to know something about the burning, if he did not do it himself. A jury of "twelve good men and true" will settle the question of his innocence or guilt at the next term of court.

Each one Separate.

If each lump of coal was separate, with legs to walk on and arms to wash and brush itself clean, it would be just a little cleaner, and could get into your cellar just a little easier than it does at present. Mind you, only just a little. We think we have the cleanest and best coal ever mined, and that we deliver it as carefully and promptly as it can be done. We should be glad to have your opinion and we'll treat you fairly.
